Lehman College Department of Nursing
Graduate Nursing Admission Test (G-NAT)

Graduate Nursing Pre-requisite
Successfully complete the Department's Graduate Nursing Admission Test (G-NAT)

- Graduate (Master’s) applicants are required to take the GNAT before admission to the Graduate Nursing Program—see deadlines below.*
- The G-NAT tests essay writing skills and can only be taken once. There is no study guide.
- Questions are based on the Essentials of Baccalaureate Nursing.
- The G-NAT is waived for applicants who already possess a Master’s Degree.
- Consideration for admission to the Graduate Nursing Program is contingent on receiving a passing G-NAT grade. Please note that the G-NAT is not the sole evaluation criteria/factor for admission to the Graduate Program.
- Applicants who fail the G-NAT will be required to take the Writing a Research Paper course to be eligible for consideration as a Conditional Admission to the Graduate Program.
- Failure to take and pass the G-NAT by the below stated deadlines will delay the processing of you graduate application.

G-NAT Exam Deadlines*
- March 1st or earlier if applying for Fall admission to the graduate program
- October 1st or earlier if applying for Spring admission to the graduate program

G-NAT Computer Exam Schedule
This exam is given by computer.
Exam Location: Nursing Department Computer Lab, BldgT-3, 1st Floor, Room 102.
The G-NAT will only be given on the dates and start times listed.
No advanced sign-up or registration is required at this time.
Arrive 15 minutes early and bring a current and valid photo ID.

 Schedules are subject to change by the Nursing Department