Supplemental Instruction (SI)

Supplemental Instruction (SI) offers peer-led review sessions for selected "traditionally difficult" courses. Sessions meet twice per week and are facilitated by a trained SI leader. Each session will reinforce your understanding of key concepts and provide methods for studying more effectively. This semester, review sessions will be offered in Biology and Psychology. To find out whether there's an SI session for your course, check Blackboard, ask your professor, or see our website, www. lehman.edu/issp, for the current SI course list.

Studying Effectively

This workshop provides techniques for studying effectively, with an emphasis on strategies that will help students in the sciences. Wed 3/6, 3:30 PM - 5 PM. For more academic skills workshops addressing such areas as time management and preparing for finals, see our Academic Coaching program. SIGN UP

Ready, Set, Write!

This group writing session is intended to help you move forward on the assignment or project of your choice. Each session begins with goal-setting; then participants work on meeting their target.
