

Welcome to Lehman College! Each year the Office of Academic Personnel, supported by the Office of the Provost, hosts a new faculty orientation to welcome and inform the newest members of your academic community.

During the daylong event, new faculty are provided with essential information from a variety of sources, including human resources, administrators, faculty and representatives of the Professional Staff Congress (PSC). Sessions include background information and tips to support faculty and student success in and outside of the classroom.

Knowing how busy you must be as you transition, and will continue to be, as you begin this new chapter in your career here at Lehman, I'd like to get these key dates and times on your calendar as soon as possible.
